SIERRA MADRE, CALIFORNIA — THURSDAY, DEC. 3, 1959

10 PAGES — Vol. 53, No. 8

SANTA CLAUS CAME to Sierra Madre this week, thanks to the Civic Club and Chamber of Commerce who cooperated to decorate the town in an unusual and attractive fashion this year. Life-sized figures of Santa, reindeer, sleighs, big candles and garlands of greenery won wide-spread approval from most Sierra Madreans. The photo shows the top of Wessel's Suburbia, the City Hall doorway and the big St. Nick on the marquee at Garland's. The Civic Club and volunteers did the work; the Chamber supplied the money.

Robert O. Foote Succumbs at 76

Robert Ordway Foote, a newspaperman since 1910, died yesterday in a Pasadena hospital. He was 76 years old. Mr. Foote, who resided at 360 Acacia St., Sierra Madre, suffered a heart attack Nov. 6 but appeared to be heading toward full recovery. He was feeling fine Tuesday and spoke of being able to leave the hospital and go home. Within hours he suffered another attack and died.

BORN IN Waterloo, Ia., June 14, 1883, Mr. Foote joined the Pasadena News, forerunner of the Star-News, in 1912 as city editor, and two years later he became associate editor of the Los Angeles Graphic. From 1916 to 1919 he was managing editor of the Richmond, Va., Journal.

He returned to the Star-News in 1925 and was sports editor from then until 1942 when he became literary and drama critic. Since the merger of the Independent and Star-News in 1956, he had served as book editor until his retirement last September.

A prolific and versatile writer, Mr. Foote's articles and stories have been published in many magazines, particularly in Esquire.

HE WAS an authority on horses and they were a favorite subject of many of his articles. For many years, too, he was correspondent for the New York Times and Baltimore Sun.

Surviving are his wife, Mary, of the Sierra Madre address; a daughter, Mrs. John Finke (Blythe Ellen Foote) whose husband is a colonel in the U.S. Army in New York City; a nephew, Alfred Chase of South Pasadena; and a niece, Mrs. Florence McMillan, of Walnut, Calif.

Funeral services will be private.

LEADING ROLE—Rick Fessenden, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. T.A.D. Fessenden, has the top part in "The Happy Time" which runs through Thursday at the Holly Avenue School in Arcadia. Presented by the Arcadia Community Theater, the play is a humorous story of a little boy becoming a man among kinfolk who are earthy but wise, uninhibited by philosophical. Rick is studying dramatics with Miss Nan Petriek of Arcadia and is a member of Dr. John Henry Lyon's Boy Choristers.

Emergency Bill Bans Moving of House

An emergency ordinance was adopted by the City Council at its meeting last week which prohibited the moving of a house from Arcadia into Sierra Madre.

The house, an old one, was to have been moved from the south side of Orange Grove to the north side, which is in Sierra Madre. It had been proposed by an Arcadia subdivision that the house could be cut down in size to fit the lot in this city.

Protesting the proposed relocation were Frank Parks, 250 S. Mountain Trail; C. P. Robertson, 132 E. Orange Grove, and M. E. Moseley, 31 E. Orange Grove.

THE EMERGENCY measure was adopted unanimously on the basis of the preservation of "public peace, health or safety."

The Bethany Home case also was discussed at length by councilmen, following the receipt of a letter from the County Division of Child Welfare Services.

The welfare agency pointed out that it was not an authority in the field of licensing homes such as Bethany. The proper agency, the letter said, is the California State Department of Social Welfare.

The Division of Child Welfare added, however, that it would consider Bethany as a placement resource, if the home was licensed by the city.

SPEAKING FOR the home was Monte Fiscus, a member of the Board of Directors, who said Bethany is trying to comply with the City Council requirement and align itself with a recognized authority in the field of child welfare.

Renewal of the home's business license depends upon its recognition by a proper agency. The Council took this action several months ago when it was informed that the County Probation Department had withdrawn its girls from the institution.

City Administrator Lawrence C. Bevington was instructed to contact the Probation Department to determine if there has been a change in attitude.

City Attorney Charles Martin warned the Council that it might be exceeding its authority. The city, he said, has no regulation or control over institutions.

Red Feather Drive Flounders in Apathy

Chairman Deplores Lack of Support

A statement sharply critical of Sierra Madre's participation in the current Community Chest fund drive was released yesterday by the campaign chairman, Mrs. Lucy Young.

The drive so far had badly floundered with only $4,000 of the $12,000 goal in the Community Chest treasury. Door-to-door solicitations have been extended to Monday, Dec. 14.

"The Community Chest Campaign Committee," Mrs. Young said, "has checked 2,075 cards turned in by 90 workers (about 30 are still working). Only 583 donations have been received, 40 of these less than a dollar and 235 only a dollar. Others have given generously, bringing the total to around $2,000. Another $2,000 has been received in the mail. This is only 33 1/2 per cent of the quota."

"ABOUT 10 per cent have promised to mail a donation. (Alas, some of these made the same promise a year ago and the year before that—yes, we do keep records) . . .

"About 15 per cent (of the people) cannot be contacted, are not at home mornings, afternoons or evenings or will not answer the doorbell. About 15 per cent refuse, some with an abrupt 'no' to a sincere volunteer who deserves courteous treatment, at least."

"One volunteer received a total of only $3 for all the calls and expressed dismay at the apathy. Another received no donations at all, except a few 'will send later.'"

"Some say they do not benefit from the Community Chest or do 'not believe' in the Chest. What is it that they do not believe in? Do they want 11 different agencies to each send a solicitor? Do they want to live in a community in which there are no group activities for children?"

"IT HAS BEEN proven over and over that youth groups, such as the Boy and Girl Scouts, etc., more than pay back a community in dollars and cents as well as in happiness and satisfaction. (Prevention of mischief and delinquency is cheaper than court action.)

"Do you want to live in a town so callous that help is denied an elderly person who is alone and ill? Or a family in need of professional counseling?"

"If some agencies are not reluctant to give, he can designate his gift to one or more specific agencies which will then receive all amounts so designated. Or do these 'don't believers' want these things for their town, but are not willing to give their share—let the other fellow do it?"

"Yes, I know there are retired people and others living in our community who have small incomes and can't give or can give only a small amount. This type of sharing is gratefully received."

"BUT MANY say, 'give 'em a dollar and get rid of 'em.' This is not the proper attitude when dealing with your Community Chest."

"The Community Chest is a part of your own town and works for your children, your friends and neighbors and maybe, sometimes, for you personally."

"So if you promised to give, please keep your promise and give your fair share. The door-to-door solicitations must end Dec. 14 but the mail responses need not end. We will keep the books open until next October, if need be, to meet the requirements of our town."

Local Man Wins Big Auto Race

Tony Settember, 24 Mira Monte, raced to a big victory in last weekend's Sports Car Club of America sponsored races at Tucson.

Driving a Chevrolet Corvette owned by Mr. and Mrs. Jack Young of Los Angeles, Settember was a decisive winner in his event at Tucson's Valley of the Sun Raceway.

THE RACES, which drew drivers from all over the United States, were all of high quality, but Settember's driving was perhaps the highlight of the weekend. Racing against Corvettes, Jaguars, and Mercedes, Settember took an immediate lead from his front row starting position and did not relinquish it throughout the 15-lap event. The West's top drivers were all present, but none of them came close to the rapid Settember.

Winning is nothing new to Settember, however, who has been competing in auto races for the past five years.

Tony began his racing career with an MG Special and later switched to a Jaguar. By 1956 he was a driver to be reckoned with wherever he raced.

The year 1956 proved to be Tony's most successful, and his many wins speak for themselves. Driving a Mercedes 300 SL, he garnered wins at Santa Barbara, Santa Rosa, Bakersfield and Pebble Beach.

SINCE THEN Tony has driven both sport cars and stock cars, and has even driven his own Corvette in several races. Currently he is driving Jack Young's Corvette and has scored two wins in three starts with the car.

Settember's wins have not been limited to just local tracks, for last May he won a big victory at the Grand Prix of Naples in Italy. He also set a new lap record.

This December 5-6 Settember will close out the 1959 racing season by competing in the California Sports Car Club sponsored races at Riverside.

On the Blotter

Woman Is Struck By Car

Two traffic accidents, one involving a drunk driving charge, were the top cases handled by local police in what has been an unusually quiet week.

A pedestrian, Mrs. Elizabeth Manacek, 67, of 135 E. Highland, was struck by a car the morning of Nov. 28 while she was crossing Baldwin Ave. at Roberts Market.

Driver of the car was Evelyn M. Wilgus, 659 Hampton Rd., Arcadia, a student at USC. Mrs. Manacek, who was in the crosswalk, stepped from in front of a truck which had stopped for her and was hit by the Wilgus car.

Police cited Miss Wilgus with failure to yield the right-of-way to a pedestrian. Mrs. Manacek suffered only minor injuries.

CHARGED WITH driving while drunk, hit and run misdemeanor and driving on the wrong side of the street is DeVaughn R. Tillery, 26, of 1284 Fay Pl., Pasadena.

Police said Tillery ran into a wall on Sturtevant Dr., bounced across the street, hit another wall and continued on his way, the front end of his car badly bashed in.

He was stopped by police at 3:05 a.m. Nov. 26, shortly after the accident. He was accompanied by his wife, Sieglinde, neither of whom was hurt.

Bloodmobile Stops Here December 14

"Give Life for Christmas" is the theme for the forthcoming visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile to Sierra Madre Monday, Dec. 14.

Local residents will have an opportunity to bring their own Blood Bank accounts up to date at the same time they are helping to make blood available to save the lives of others.

Blood has become one of the most valuable medicines in the saving of human life in cases of accident, blood disease, childbirth and surgery.

The Bloodmobile will be at the Woman's Clubhouse from 3 p.m. to 7 p.m. Dec. 14. Appointments should be made by calling local Red Cross headquarters, ELgin 5-0745.

FIRE MEETING

Fire Chief Charles Brown will answer questions regarding the proposed fire ordinance at the next regular meeting of the Foothill Area Improvement Assn., Thursday night, Dec. 10, at 8 o'clock in City Hall.

LIFE-SAVING aspects of blood are pointed out by Mrs. Paul Burton, chairman of volunteers here for the American Red Cross whose Bloodmobile will visit the city Dec. 14. Theme of this year's blood drive is "You can save a life by filling this bottle."

ELATED AFTER his big victory in the races sponsored by the Sports Car Club of America is Tony Settember, 24 Mira Monte, Sierra Madre. He drove a Chevrolet Corvette.

Open Letter to a Teenager

(The following article was clipped from The New Mexican and sent to the Sierra Madre News by Mrs. Hazelle R. Paus, well-known Sierra Madrean who is vacationing in Santa Fe. It is by Judge Philip B. Gilliam, nationally known juvenile court judge from Denver.)

"Always we hear the plaintive cry of the teenager: What can we do? ? ? Where can we go? The answer is GO HOME!

"Hang the storm windows, paint the woodwork. Rake the leaves, mow the lawn, shovel the walk. Wash the car, learn to cook, scrub the floors. Repair the sink, build a boat, get a job.

"Help the minister, priest or rabbi, the Red Cross, the Salvation Army. Visit the sick, assist the poor, study your lessons. And then you are through—and not too tired—read a book.

"YOUR PARENTS do not owe you entertainment. Your city or village does not owe you recreational facilities. The world does not owe you a living. You owe the world something. You owe your time and energy and your talents so that no one will be at war or in poverty or sick or lonely again.

"In plain simple words: Grow up; quit being a cry baby. Get out of your dream world and develop a backbone, not a wishbone, and start acting like a man or lady.

"YOU'RE SUPPOSED to be mature enough to accept some of the responsibility your parents have carried for years. They have nursed, protected, helped, appealed, begged, excused, tolerated and denied themselves needed comforts so that you could have every benefit.

"This they have done gladly, for you are their dearest treasure. But now, you have no right to expect them to bow to every whim and fancy just because selfish ego instead of common sense dominates your personality, thinking and requests."

End of the World

An item crossed our desk recently which makes us wonder whether we are not close to the end—the end of the world, that is.

The item came from New York, and that might explain it. It claimed that women admire men with hairy chests, and that the latest fad is one in chest tapestries.

THE STORY contended that a hair-making firm was queried about the ridiculous notion of someone to add artificial hair to his chest. To the surprise of the interrogator, the hair-making firm representative, a woman, said that many males already buy chest falsies.

In addition to that bit of information, the woman said that brown was the favorite color, and that it is almost impossible to detect a chest rug when someone is wearing one.

WE FIND this bit of "information" hard to believe. We are generally against false appearances in any form, but, up to now, we have thought this sort of business was confined largely to women, who pay more attention to their looks.

If men are coming to this, and we seriously doubt it, it may be the first sign of the living end. Life is getting sort of complicated anyhow, what with our lag in the missiles and rockets race, everything apparently turing out to be a fraud in life, and now this!

Space Monkey and Whales

Admiral Hyman G. Rickover, the pioneer in developing U.S. nuclear submarines, recently told a reporter he doesn't know whether the Soviet Union has faster subs than our own. But he believes Americans should hustle, and add to their accomplishments, in the scientific race with Russia.

Asked about Soviet progress and their apparent lead in many fields, Rickover said that the United States was first in two things.

"First, we have the only pregnant space monkey. Secondly, we have the only atomic submarine ever to run into a whale."

RICKOVER'S sarcasm is well put. Unfortunately, we find ourselves behind the Soviet Union in a number of vital defense areas, and Rickover's comment is a grim, humorous reminder that we are falling behind.

We need a few more frank, honest officials to put the facts squarely before the American public. It is sometimes difficult to keep in mind that the Russians exploded the first hydrogen bomb, have the best rocket engine today, developed the first jet engine and jet airliner to go into use, have the biggest atomic-power plant, the only nuclear-powered surface ship, and have more ICBM's, which can probably be fired more accurately than any other country in the world, and also have to their credit a long list of other achievements.

Letters to the Editor

TIME MARCHES ON

Dear Sir:

I was pleased to note that in your number of Nov. 12, under "20 years ago this week," you noted that my "Five Times the World" was published that week, 1939, and that I lived at 151 Vista Circle Dr.

Thought I'd report that four books and 20 years later the old mossback is still at 151.

Yours,

JOHN R. MCCARTHY.

FEATHERBEDDING

The ugly word "featherbedding" is much in the news of the day. Railroad tycoons and labor giants are squaring off for a massive struggle over the issue. The pressure for better pay and benefits is on, but labor is on the defensive. It is called upon to show cause why work rules designed many years ago should not be revised to fit modern tools of transportation. The following reasons are advanced for retaining rules status quo:

1. Sweat was expended to wring concessions from management years ago.
 2. Any relaxation is an admission of weakness.
 3. Railroads can well afford additional concessions.
- It appears to us that review of obsolete work rules is not an admission of weakness, but recognition by management that labor has reached maturity. It has outgrown the booties knitted for the infant of 1919 and is ready to discard them for the work shoes of a responsible adult.

The sweat expended was not in vain. It started a juggernaut moving relentlessly in the direction of better pay and more favorable conditions. Its progress resembles the periodic migrations of lemmings, which proceed in a fixed direction over cliffs into the ocean. Those who survive the plunge swim on to exhaustion and extinction.

Can the labor juggernaut be steered away from the cliff of railroad destruction? Can responsible leadership from within control it, or must government again step in?

Railway labor still has the golden opportunity to profit by the example of predatory capital. Certain excesses early in the century brought down the mountain of political regulation on the railroads. To this day they remain all but smothered by the debris.

Very respectfully,
K. FRITZ SCHUMACHER,
(Former Santa Fe Rail.)

LIKES YULE DECORATIONS

At last those dry, bedraggled and scrawny Christmas trees have been replaced by attractive decorations in keeping with our small-town atmosphere.

The Civic Club, I understand, was responsible for originating the idea and putting up the decorations. Its members are to be congratulated.

The Chamber of Commerce, I read in the Sierra Madre News, supplied that all-important ingredient—money. The businessmen also must be complimented for having the foresight to trust another organization with their hard-earned cash.

CALTECH LECTURE
"Physiological Variations Within Plan Species" is the title of this week's Friday evening demonstration lecture at the California Institute of Technology. The lecture will be given by Dr. Thomas O. Perry at 7:30 p.m. in Norman Bridge Hall of Physics. The public is invited.

HALF-PAST TEEN

A JUKEBOX DANCE MUST SEEM AWFULLY DULL TO YOU, RUSSELL, AFTER 12 MONTHS AT SEA ON A SUBMARINE.

Around the Square

By Tommy-Ann Miller

The Thanksgiving turkey carcass is barely simmering and already Christmas lights are glimmering. Plaster Santas are sweltering in their lacquered suits ("On Donder!—there's a water hole yonder") as 86-degree temperatures makes the coming of Christmas "unreal. Despite the gem-like days—the unreasonable seasonable-ness (typical of Southern California Yuletides) probably has transplanted Easterners pinning for a nip in the air.

—BUT IT WAS a good weekend for cockle hunting at the seashore—and an exceptionally low Sunday tide discloses green patches of sea grass, pudgy anemones, star fish, abalone, crabs and other tide pool treasures. (Briefly-clad bathers, surfers obviously held no brief with the balmy weather.)

HORS DE COMBAT. Former Royal Drug pharmacist, Tony Lando, is on crutches because of a recent judo session. He didn't realize the damage done to his knee (by an Inside Cross Hook, perhaps?) until a week later when he collapsed while getting out of his car. Seems Tony's knee ligaments were badly strained and he's unable to drive—much less work.

SIERRA MADRE friends and acquaintances of Pasadena painter, Francis de Erdely, 55, were saddened to learn of his sudden death last weekend. He was an enthusiastic supporter of the Sierra Madre Library Gallery, exhibited his paintings here and often attended the show openings.

As expressed by one Exhibit's Committee member, "Mr. de Erdely was a rare person—and a top area artist who took a real interest in our local gallery."

TONSILLECTOMY TWO-SOME. Two little Caldwelles, Terry, 8, and her brother Jerry, 4 (children of Gordon and Mary Caldwell), had their tonsils clipped at Sierra Madre Hospital the day before Thanksgiving (a dirty trick). Terry's recouping famously but Jerry's throat hurts HURTS!

IN CASE you're still musing over the gossamer pantaloons and splendid headpieces worn by the undulating Harlem Belles (Barbara Dunnagan, Jane Buchanan and Myrt Waite) of Extravaganza fame—the talented trio whipped up the costumes themselves.

POETS PARTY. Nice to know that writer, John McCarthy, is well again and entertained a dozen friends at a triple birthday tea at his Alta Vista home recently. Birthday celebrants, Edward Voorhees, Thirza Martin of Pasadena and Mr. McCarthy, belong to a poetry reading group and have celebrated their November birthdays together for many years. (The fourth member, Irene Markiewicz of Azusa, partied by phone—due to a belligerent cold bug.)

A HOUSEFUL for dinner (delicious!) at the home of Mrs. Katharine Grijalva last weekend. Mrs. G., a former well-known Sierra Madrean, recently moved back to her West Highland home after living out near Hemet.

ELBOW BLOW. While crossing from Union Station to Robert's Market, Saturday noon, Mrs. Elizabeth Manacek was knocked to the ground by an east-bound auto—and her elbow badly bruised. She was in the crosswalk at the time. The driver, a young lady visitor from Chicago, reportedly said she was "not up on our driving habits."

Parker Lynching a Political Football

By Robert G. Spivack

Washington
Strange as it may sound, the worst thing and the best thing that has happened in the Mack Charles Parker case is that it has become a political football.

For the family of this young Mississippi Negro it must be distressing to watch Dixie demagogues and Northern Republican politicians, with an eye on 1960, both trying to make political capital out of his lynching. Yet for the families of other Negroes in the South it is, in the long run, fortunate that politicians outside Mississippi are forced to do something about wanton disregard of the law by local mobs.

What prompts me to make what superficially seems like contradictory observations is the way Attorney General Rogers announced that the Justice Dept. was coming back into the case. Unquestionably Rogers has given it political overtones by his belated announcement; yet it is better that he moves late rather than never.

WHEN PARKER was lynched last spring the Justice Dept. acted with complete propriety in sending the FBI to investigate. There seemed to be a possibility that Parker's body had been carried across the state line. Technically the Department also was correct in saying that no federal law had been violated, after the FBI had completed its findings—because there is still no federal anti-lynching law after all these years of civil rights debate.

What is distressing is that the President and Attorney General fell silent during all the intervening months, even after Gov. Coleman refused to impanel a special grand jury to look into the case. Such a grand jury, Coleman argued, would do nothing. It was better to wait for the regular fall panel.

But it was a foregone conclusion that nothing would happen in the fall, Coleman refused to speculate on what the regular grand jury might do. He was not being naïve; he knew the record of Mississippi juries.

It was evident to anyone with the slightest knowledge of "lynch law" that nothing ever happens to the perpetrators unless there is terrific public pressure. By putting action off to the fall, the Mississippi Governor was trying to make sure that Congress took no action when public sentiment was aroused about the Parker case.

THE GREAT SILENCE—It was no surprise that Sen. Eastland or Senate Democratic Leader Johnson should try to take the heat off. But the Administration's silence while this was going on was baffling, if not actually disgraceful.

Everything Rogers said about the failure of the grand jury even to hear the FBI men who did the investigating being a "travesty on justice" was absolutely right.

"You talk about states' rights," Rogers said, "That's fine. I believe in states' rights, too. But there are also state responsibilities. It seems clear to me that if a state doesn't believe in the administration of justice, to the extent of not even calling witnesses in a case like the Poplarville case, then the Federal government must consider something else."

Wasn't all this evident months ago? Why so late?

IN A WAY the tip-off on the Administration's uncertainty about its position on the Parker case and similar episodes is that no one in authority yet has called for enactment of a federal anti-lynching law. This would seem to be the minimum need in any new civil rights legislation. Yet even Rogers shied away from recommending it.

The failure to be specific is bound to make some people think he is playing politics.

If he is, then civil rights advocates ought to keep on guard.

Among politicians there are ties that bind. They are stronger than opposition to lynching. After all the Administration has depended on Southern Democrats to hold the line on its conservative domestic economic policies. The old Republican-Dixie Democratic coalition is still a force to be reckoned with.

Yet the fact that Rogers has moved as far as he has, must be marked down on the "plus" side of the ledger. But it should be recognized for what it is—a minor advance, not a major gain.

Lauds SBA Loans to Small Firms

By Edgar W. Hiestand
Rep., 21st Dist.

In October, 287 small business loans were approved by the small Business Administration for a total of $12,833,000. Some were direct from the SBA to the borrower. Most were "participating," with the SBA and a commercial bank or lending institution cooperating in the loan and sharing the risk.

Under both procedures the borrower pays the going rate of interest. Contrast this with other Federal lending agencies, such as the REA, which uses money borrowed by the treasury at 4 to 5 per cent to lend out to electrical co-ops at 2 per cent with the taxpayers picking up the tab for the difference.

OF THE 287 SBA loans in October, 12 went to Los Angeles small businesses. The amounts borrowed by these firms ranged from $15,000 to $350,000. The total was $778,500. These 12 firms employ 222 Californians.

In view of the business-like way these loans are handled, the realistic interest rate (without government subsidy), the fact that small business, the backbone of our economy, is receiving this help, the SBA seems to me to be government assistance at its best. But Small Business needs something else—tax relief. No government agency can give that; it has to come from Congress.

My bill, H.R. 3012, provides what I consider the minimum program of tax relief for small business and the people engaged in small business. This proposal would allow the small businessman to deduct, for income tax purposes, the amount plowed back into his business, with reasonable limitations, of course.

H.R. 3177 is another tax bill that encourages private investment in new and small business. Such encouragement is necessary. Lack of capital for expansion is a major problem. They've got to have it if they're to continue to grow.

Kruschev claims he is going to "bury" us economically in overwhelming production of consumer goods. I don't believe it. Nothing in the Soviet economic system compares with our small business community, and communism doesn't lend itself to successful adaptation of the individual entrepreneur. If we look out for small business and keep it healthy, we have nothing to fear from the Soviets businesswise.

What Do You Think . . .

Here's Man With an Honest Memory

By Lee Shippey

In Los Angeles the other day I chatted with Bruce Russell, the brilliant cartoonist on the Los Angeles Times, who lived in Sierra Madre when he first began to win recognition as a cartoonist. I well remember when Bruce married and set up housekeeping elsewhere and when his first baby was born. So, being something of a family man myself, I asked about his children.

"They amaze me," Bruce said. "My boy in high school is taking both Greek and Latin and loves them so that when we took a cross-country vacation last summer he arranged with his teachers to have correspondence-course lessons waiting for him in every city in which we stopped for two or three days. He took along more books for study than most boys possessed when I was a teenager. And it's the same with all the youngsters we see the most—they all seem to have higher aspirations and higher standards than a teenager did when I was a boy. They know vastly more about world problems than youngsters did when I was a boy, and give a great deal more thought to them."

Discovered at last, a man with an honest memory! OF COURSE this may be largely heredity. Ever since I first met Bruce, more than 30 years ago, he has been trying every day to improve himself. In recent years he has won numerous honors and other great newspapers have tried to lure him away, but he has stuck to the job he likes in the region he likes. But despite his constant efforts to improve, he consistently finds time to go fishing with his son. He works just as "hard" at being a family man as he does at being a cartoonist, and loves both jobs—if an occupation one loves can be called a job.

THOSE TREES set out in the business section make me proud of Sierra Madre and I am sure that the more trees are set out on the parkways of the city's streets the more distinction the city will gain. It is a rare town in which the merchants have vision enough to see what trees will do for them.

Many of them object that trees will hide their signs—but I'm sure that I shall never see a signboard as charming as a tree. I have been singing this song ever since I first saw the beautiful trees on the "grands boulevards" of Paris and realized that they not only added greatly to the charm and comfort of those streets but made shoppers eager to get on them in hot weather.

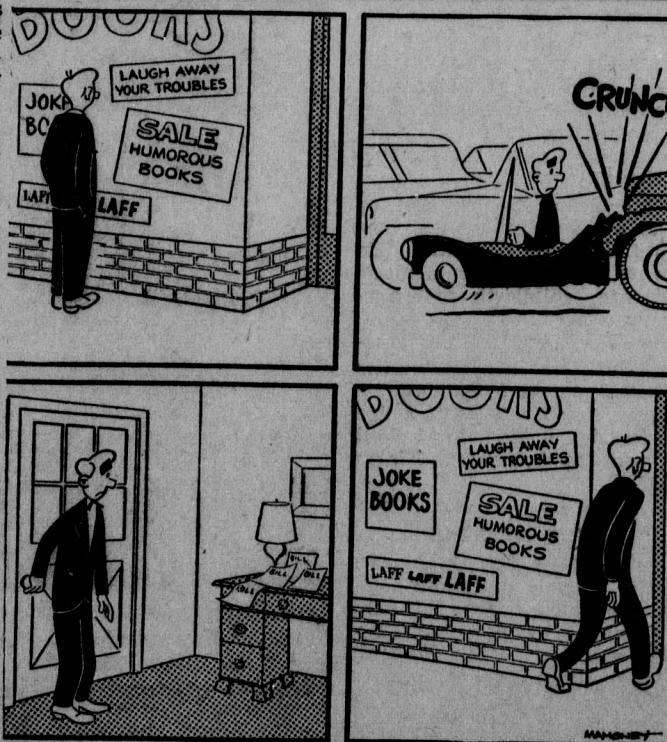

There are plenty of times in summer when a little shade is more attractive than a sign made of gold and diamonds could be.

Once when my daughter was shopping in Pasadena she was so nearly overcome by heat that she feared she would be seriously ill but she drove around to a shaded street and felt better almost at once.

Why in a few years Pasadena may be driving to Sierra Madre to shop, just because of the shaded business streets.

Oral Polio Vaccine Safety Is Questioned

(Presented as a public service by the Foothill District of the Los Angeles County Medical Assn.)

The risks of oral polio vaccine "appear to be greater than it had been suspected" and much more knowledge must be obtained before it can be considered safe, three Baylor University researchers said recently.

Vaccines made from live polio viruses reduced in strength are now being given by mouth to thousands of children all over the world, under the direction of Dr. Albert Sabin, University of Cincinnati, developer of the vaccine.

The researchers, Joseph L. Melnick, PH.D., Matilda Benesh-Melnick, M.D., and James C. Brennan, M.D., said, "If caution was called for in 1954 and 1955 when the Salk vaccine was introduced into large-scale field use, then caution also should be the watchword now."

Writing in the Journal of the American Medical Association, they said the safety of the vaccine has not been definitely proved.

Safety tests performed in a number of different laboratories are in "serious disagreement" about the degree of attenuation (reduction in strength) of the viruses, the authors said.

"We do not imply," they continued, "that we have proved that such virus strains are dangerous either for the vaccinated child or for the community, but we wish to emphasize that the risks appear to be greater than had been suspected and that much more knowledge must be obtained . . . before the available attenuated strains can be said to meet the criteria of a safe and effective vaccine . . ."

They also pointed out that a study among Mexican children showed many who were free of polio antibody (the blood agent that fights infection) but who failed to develop antibodies when given the vaccine. This apparently occurred because they were already infected with a nonpolio enterovirus (one that lives in the gastrointestinal tract) and this infection blocked the implantation of the polio virus.

SUCH INTERFERENCE might well limit the effectiveness of an orally given vaccine in areas where enterovirus infections are common, the researchers said.

In addition, the Mexico City study showed that the number of children with polio antibodies prior to receiving vaccine was already 33 per cent among one-year-old children; 54 per cent in two-year-olds, and 85 per cent in three-to-five-year-olds.

Giving vaccine to children whose contacts are chiefly immune by natural infections tells very little about the safety of a vaccine for a community, since the opportunities of spread in an immune population is severely limited, they said.

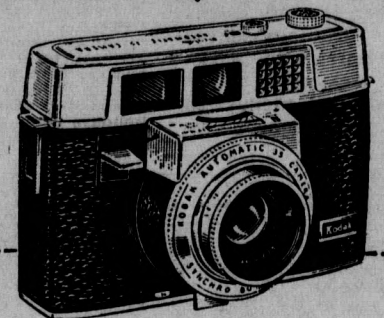

Thus the vaccine must be tried in groups with low rates of immunity. Then it can be determined if a spread of the virus from vaccinated to non-vaccinated individuals is dangerous, the authors said.

The question of safety resolves itself on the frequency of disease in vaccinated children and their contacts, as compared with that anticipated from natural infection, they concluded.

The authors are associated with the department of virology and epidemiology and the department of pathology at Baylor University College of Medicine, Houston, Texas.

When people say things are fixed it usually means they are fixed for only a very few.

YES, YOU CAN GET IMMEDIATE DELIVERY ON BRAND NEW 1960 FORDS

While production has been impaired and serious shortages have affected the automotive industry, we Ford dealers have been more fortunate than most dealers. Nearly half of the steel used in the production of Ford cars is made by the Ford Motor Company. Despite the slow-down necessitated by the strike, Ford production has never ceased.

Your interest in the wonderful new world of Fords has been nothing short of fabulous. You've found that this year's broad range of Fords—three entirely new lines—has made important inroads into the problems of the high cost of car ownership. There's a Ford for every purse—beginning with the Ford Falcon, the lowest-priced six-passenger car built in America today. And this year, the glamorous Ford Fairlane 500 is priced $142 less than last year's model.

Many of you have backed up your interest in the 1960 Fords with orders and have been pleasantly surprised to discover how rapidly deliveries are being made.

To those of you who have hesitated to place your order, this is to assure you that deliveries are rapidly approaching normal. The sooner you act, the sooner you'll be driving around in the newest of the new cars—the classic '60 Fords, the new-size Ford Falcon and the brilliant Ford Thunderbird.

VILLA VIEWS

By Toni Maurin
ST. 7-9634

Gobble, gobble, gobble. My, those birds do go a long way, don't they? They're so uncompromising lying there inert in the icebox waiting to be stripped of their last bit of dignity. And I, being the kind of person I am, cannot even give the carcass a decent burial. No, I subject my over-fed family to the final fling with turkey soup. Now, turkey is wonderful, it is just great, but not after a week of stuffing, eating and then nibbling on and on and on. Moral of this story: Buy a smaller bird or have more people to share it with you.

WE FELT very fortunate at our home in being able to share our day with two sets of parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest B. Maurin Sr. and Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Baumeister, as well as Dr. and Mrs. Philip Smith and their four children.

MR. AND MRS. Paul Wetcher of Kinneloa Mesa took their children on a jaunt to San Felipe on the inland side of Baja California for a long weekend. They stayed at Augie's Riviera.

MR. AND MRS. John Price of Fairpoint entertained their family at home on Thanksgiving day. Included in the group were Mrs. Price's sisters and families, Mr. and Mrs. Neal Carnell and their two daughters, and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Swing and their four children, as well as her mother, Mrs. Fred A. Pell.

MR. DAVID PHILLIP was honored at a coffee clatch given by Mrs. Skipper Rosker of Barhite last week. There were 30 guests present to relay the message that she was sorely missed on our hill.

MR. AND MRS. Joseph Philipson are in their Old House Road home again after a week's stay in San Francisco.

THE ARTURO Gutierrez family of Fairpoint were hosts to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Acencio and their four children, as well as Mr. and Mrs. Tito A. Gutierrez and their seven children at a traditional Thanksgiving feast.

DR. AND MRS. Charles Rasmussen of Kinneloa Canyon Road spent their day with Mrs. Rasmussen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Setliffe of South Gate.

MR. AND MRS. Walter V. Dorn Jr. and their two children spent the holiday with Mr. Dorn's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter V. Dorn Sr., in Bouquet Canyon, outside of Lancaster.

MR. AND MRS. John Fricke, Mr. and Mrs. E. Marshall Harris and Mr. and Mrs. Norman White went up to Lake Isabella for a three-day holiday of fishing and fun. They took all of their children with them as well.

DR. AND MRS. John G. Illin of Meyer Loa Lane returned from a four-day stay at the Colony Motel in Palm Springs, all rested and ready to have a big Thanksgiving gathering at their home. Their guests were Mr. and Mrs. John H. Allin, Mrs. Jesse Bacon, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Nelson and children, Mrs. Bishop, Mrs. Howard Vin and Mr. and Mrs. Don Garner and their children.

MR. AND MRS. Leslie Garlinghouse of Sierra Madre had, in addition to their immediate family, two sons, Albert Garlinghouse and Jim Devers, as well as Mr. and Mrs. William of San Marino with two children and two guests.

Garlinghouse just returned from a hunting trip to Montana. He home empty-handed, however, which in itself a victory, with the weather they have experiencing in that

Karelus is president of the Leaders' Association of Sierra Madre and Hastings Ranch. They were named at annual meeting of the District.

Top Artists To Honor Schweitzer

Four internationally known artists will combine their talents to honor Dr. Albert Schweitzer on his 35th birthday, at the Pasadena Jewish Temple and Center on Monday, Dec. 7, at 8:15 p.m.

They are novelist Irving Stone, Broadway singing star John Raitt, violinist Louis Kaufman and organist Edward Nies-Berger.

Irving Stone, best-selling author of "Lust for Life," "Immortal Wife," "Love Is Eternal," etc., will speak on the meaning of Albert Schweitzer's career and philosophy for our time.

Singer John Raitt, one of the most popular stars of today, will render a musical tribute to the man who is also esteemed as a superlative organist and Bach authority.

Louis Kaufman, who has gained a unique place among the great violinists of our time, will play several Bach compositions, accompanied by his wife, Annette. Termed "a violinist's violinist" and a musician's musician" by the New York Times, Mr. Kaufman has made numerous successful tours of North and South America and Europe. He has recorded more than 60 major works of the violin repertoire.

Edouard Nies-Berger, who will perform several of Schweitzer's favorite Bach compositions on the organ, has been a life-long friend and disciple of the great humanitarian. An organist of extraordinary attainments, Nies-Berger served for nine years as official organist of the New York Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra.

TURLOCK VISIT

state. (As Mrs. Garlinghouse puts it, at least she doesn't have to cook caribou for dinner.)

THE A. C. ONGS of Trevan Road finally got off their horses last week and exchanged for walking boots. Their trips this past month have included two with the Sheriff's posse. One, they drove to Bisbee, Ariz., with their horse and trailer and from there rode into Tombstone, where they re-enacted some of the scenes from the Old West, in costume yet. Their second trip with the posse was to Palmdale near Little Rock.

Last Friday they left with Dr. and Mrs. Charles Rasmussen and the children from both families for a trip to Death Valley, where they joined several other members of the Pasadena Ski Club for a hike through some of the historical sights in the valley. They returned home Sunday evening.

LAFF OF THE WEEK

"Oh, they're a little loose now—but they'll be fine when I get my skin on."

UP ON ...

Hastings Hill

Those adjective-prone ad writers are after us again, and I for one would prefer hibernation until either they or I have seen the psychiatrist.

If some merchant would advertise that "we sell men's, women's and children's clothes and things for the house; we have many sizes and colors; if you come in to look at them we won't bother you while you make up your mind," there would be the place to do the Christmas shopping.

Instead you read bewildering descriptions such as "picture dainty," shoes with an "East-West gesture to comfort," "tender petal" nightgowns, "fake fur stole with a 'whoosh of glamour,' men's shoes named 'alumni aristocracy,'" a sweater with

Hilltoppers Have Evening 'On the Town'

The Hilltoppers of Pasadena enjoyed an evening "on the town" at their regular monthly get-together. The group of couples started with an exotic Cantonese dinner at the Kow Loon restaurant and then went on to see "Porgy and Bess."

In attendance were Mr. and Mrs. Bud Marrs, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Moore, Mr. and Mrs. William Lynden, Mr. and Mrs. William Zierk, Mr. and Mrs. Don Peradiss and Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Wilbur.

GRANDPA and grandma used to go "sparkling," pa and ma "pitched woo." The very young ones in 1959 call it "making out." Overheard at eighth grade Spotlight Day at Wilson Junior High, as mothers trudged from class to class observing their children at their studies, one weary mother greeting another, "How're you making out?" Of course she meant, "Are you as tired of this school day as I am?" but she ahhemed and blushed slightly when a half-dozen junior high schoolers glanced quickly in her direction to see what this mother had in mind.

EVELYN PETERSON is on the mend after being shaken up when someone ran a red light and smashed into her at Rosemead and Greenhill extension as she was making a left-hand turn. The Peterson car was demolished, but luckily she escaped serious injury. The strangest part about the accident was why it took a Pasadena policeman an hour and a half to come to investigate after the department had received two calls.

I HOPE residents on the various streets have been giving some thought to their holiday decorations. Tropical isn't to be left in the lurch. Bits of plywood have been making an appearance with the idea in mind that something effective might be fashioned for the parkway. Even closer to home is a Hindu being constructed in our backyard that scares the daylight out of anyone who might stray from the beaten path. 'Tis rumored this "creation" is to impart a holiday greeting. For myself, I'm needing some more explanations as to WHAT a Hindu has to do with Santa Claus.

Bank Service Has Santa Claus Letters

It's Christmas time in Santa Claus again! The little Indiana village, with the magical postmark, is mailing headquarters for letters to St. Nick. Nestled in the southern Indiana hills, the tiny hamlet of Santa Claus with less than 50 year-round inhabitants is the hub of frenzied activity.

The storybook village, dedicated to the children of the world, is literally snowed under with mail. This holiday season some 5,000,000 pieces of mail will pass through the tiny post office and receive the official Santa Claus postmark.

This year Atlas Federal Savings, 722 E. Colorado Blvd., Pasadena, is offering a special service to its customers and the community. The bank is offering a selection of delightful Christmas letters, written and signed by Santa Claus.

The envelopes may be addressed to any child and mailed in the special mail box in the Atlas Federal lobby.

The letters that are mailed are transported to the town of Santa Claus where they are postmarked and returned directly to the child with the envelope bearing the renowned Santa Claus postmark.

The deadline for mailing is Dec. 15.

30 Years' Bicycle Experience

BUSINESS ACTIVITY in the southern half of California declined for the third straight month during October. Security First National Bank's Monthly Summary of Business Conditions reported yesterday. The steel strike, a general tightness of credit and the continued drop in building and real estate activity were factors retarding last month's business activity, according to E. W. Wiegel, vice president and manager of Security's Foothill and Rosemead Branch. Security's business index for October was 4.9 per cent below July's record peak, but was 7.7 per cent above the same month last year.
